

Cataract Canyon 2010

3 Days / 2 Nights

Canyonlands National Park and the Colorado River

On this popular three day expedition we will travel by row raft. The row raft is a fantastic ride in the rapids of Cataract Canyon and the ideal way to experience the pristine wilderness that is Canyonlands National Park.

As our journey begins we will enjoy the tranquil upper section of the river as it meanders through prehistoric sandstone cliffs. Optional interpretive side hikes allow us to explore ancient anasazi ruins, and magnificent side canyons. Arriving in camp, your guides get busy cooking a delicious meal featuring fresh meats and vegetables.

Further down river we approach the confluence of the Green and Colorado rivers. The rapids of Cataract Canyon lie just ahead. During the months of May and June Cataract is home to some of the best whitewater action in North America. During the summer and fall we enjoy smaller but still thrilling rapids.

The last day of our journey brings us to Hite Marina and the end of our trip. Here many of our guests opt to take a scenic flight over Canyonlands & Cataract Canyon back to Moab. Others continue on for two more nights exploring the Needles on a NAVTEC 4 wheel drive trip (see combination trips for price and details).
